Sacramento, California: Benefits Assistance, Small Business Loans, Meal Assistance, Homeless Assistance (COVID-19 Economic Solutions), and Suspension of Utility Cut-Offs

Description of Program and Relief

The Sacramento City Council passed a COVID-19 relief package containing programs to assist individuals and small businesses. As part of that relief package, Sacramento will not cut off utility services to people who cannot pay monthly bills. The City also approved a $1 million economic relief package for small local businesses. The relief may include zero-interest loans of up to $25,000 and a small business hotline.

The City also approved up to $250,000 to purchase and distribute emergency sanitation and cleaning supplies for the homeless. The City will acquire and distribute emergency sanitation and cleaning supplies to impacted business.

The City will establish more ways for children and families to get food in the wake of school closures.

The City will work with the Sacramento Central Labor Council to help people with the processes for unemployment, family leave, disability insurance, unemployment insurance, paid sick leave and workers’ compensation.

Program details for the above are forthcoming.
